

Department of English Research Workshop

HUNG TSUN SING is Teaching Assistant in English Language Teaching Unit at The Chinese University of Hong Kong, where he obtained his MA in Linguistics and MPhil in English (Applied English Linguistics) following his graduation from Lingnan University. His current research interests include second language acquisition, second language writing, discourse analysis, and corpus linguistics.

Introducing Research Methods in Applied Linguistics

Date: Monday, October 24

Time: 4:30pm – 6:00pm

Venue: LKK103

ILP: 1.5 (Intellectual and Entrepreneurship Development)

SPEAKER: MR. HUNG TSUN SING

The research workshop introduces participants to the fundamentals of research methods in the field of applied linguistics. Topics include the basic research methodologies (qualitative, quantitative, and mixed methodologies) in applied linguistics, purposes of research (explorative, descriptive, and explanatory research), criteria for selecting research methods, and issues in data collection and analysis for undergraduate-level research projects. Participants will have the opportunities to discuss with the guest speaker and fellow audience members questions about conducting primary research and to formulate a tentative yet viable, working plan for their future research design and planning.

Register NOW: <https://forms.gle/6orE141gQT7Nqght9>

All are welcome

(For enquiry, please call 2616 7790)