

LINGNAN UNIVERSITY

No Shark-fin Policy

Lingnan University is committed to ensuring that all activities run by the University are conducted in an environmentally responsible manner. In this connection, the University Administrative and Planning Committee (UAPC) at its meeting of 14 September and 16 November 2009 considered and agreed to support the No Shark-fin Policy put forward by the World Wildlife Fund (WWF) Hong Kong. The University will not serve shark fins at the restaurant on campus and during university functions. The Office of the Comptroller would keep track of the matter. Furthermore, the on-campus caterer will be informed of the policy and encouraged not to serve shark-fin dishes in any restaurant or cafeteria within the University campus. The policy will be included in the tendering procedures for future caterers as well.
